agers in the city and railroads, one vital subject for action at the fortieth international convention of the Y. M. C. A., now in session here, will be consideration of a retirement fund. Realizing, several years ago, that the association was lagging behind business houses and other institutions, study was made of various systems of caring for workers as they grow old. It was revealed, in the inrestigations by the retirement fund poard of trustees, that many pension lans had "gone broke" through the doption of a system inadequate to rovide for future funds, even the Carnegie pension fund had had to undergo readjustments.

Discarding at the outset a system eased on a wholly endowed fund, because of difficulty in raising sums of soney large enough for such a plan, because the element of charity offensive to secretaries, efforts rere centered on a contributory ethod. The "Tontine" plan was hosen as the best suited to the confitions, and under this both the asciation and the secretary set aside centage to be paid would be based on the salary received over a certain period of years, the total length of concerned, the age of each secretary secretary's former salary, he retiresent age and possibility of death

The biggest problem presented has been the provision for retirement funds for men now in the work, some of whom have been employed as secretaries for years. Their contribution, necessarily, would be far below the propertion which would maintain the funds if its obligations were applied only to men just entering the work. This "accrued liability" reaches the sum of $3,750,193, according to experts, figures.

ROYALIST GENERALS OUSTED YUDENITCH

Politics Caused Retreat Into Esthonia and Resignation of Democratic Leader.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 20 .- General Halking, of the British mission, who been summoned home, has left for England, it is supposed, with the object of reporting on the situation, according to a copyrighted dispath ording to a copyrighted and median Helsingfors to the Philadelphia

Public Ledger.

The arrangement being made between the Russians and Esthenians much attention. According one theory, the rapidity and extent of the Russian retreat from Katchina explicable only on political unds. It is said that the majority the generals in the northwest army, whom there are thirteen or four-n, in a force of less than 25,000 n, have ingrained reactionary opinions, and regard General Yudentteh as too amenable to democratic considerations. The retreat to Esthonian territory and the resignation of General Yudenitch represent on this Beory a plan to remove democratic The plan, in short, is described as monarchist intrigue definitely to ruin the northwest army as consti-tuted under General Yudenitch and so prevent the liberation of Petrograd.

It appears obvious that Avolon-Bermondt's move against Riga on Oc-taber 3 was timed to spoil General Yudenitch's offensive on the 11th by drawing off a considerable part of the Esthonian forces as well as tan-talizing reactionary Russian circles Holiance is now supposed to be placed by those circles on the fact that the new Esthonian government is more conservative than its predecessor, but seeing that the Esthonians are Social-letic and anti-German, the adherence
